DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

The Eastern Front will be the topic of an address by Mrs. Agnes Warren Perkins this (Tuesday) evening at a meeting of the Grangers in the vestry of the Baptist church.

At St. James' church, beginning Wednesday, there will be a triduum, or three days' retreat, for the men of the parish who have enrolled as members of the Holy Name society and who will participate in the demonstration of Windham county churches at Putnam next Sunday.

This is the day that the registrars of the town of Killbuck are in session to receive applications of those who would be made voters in time for the presidential election. Today will bring the last chance to register this year.

Many will be cheered by the statement made Monday morning by J. Arthur Atwood that he does not look for any curtailment of production by the big mills of the Quinbaugh company here. Atwood indicated that the mills will continue to operate on full time throughout the winter, as the concern is in a position to hold a steady market for its product as may not find a ready sale in the market. The mill employs several hundred hands.

To J. C. Mathier of Wauregan will be given much of the credit for the big and impressive demonstration in honor of the Holy Name society of Windham county Catholic churches at Putnam next Sunday. Father Mathier has been engaged for weeks in visiting churches of the county and addressing congregations relative to the event.

Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Aver, Chief John McFarland and Officer Christopher Andrews made an unsuccessful search for liquor at Alexander's lake. The officers did not find a trace of any forbidden juice.

Up to this time 346 women have qualified as voters in the town of Killbuck. Of this total 275 are in the first district, which includes Danielson, South Killbuck and Elmville; 58 are in the second district, which includes Danville, Goodyear, Attawaggon and Ballouville and are from the third district, which includes East Killbuck and adjoining parts of the town.

Following services at All Hallows' church in Moosup, the body of James E. Kennedy, 4, son of Mrs. Blanche Godreau, was brought here for burial in Holy Cross cemetery. L. E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Delayed receipt of a telegram instructing that the plant should not resume operations resulted in the Goodyear Mills plant resuming operations Monday, after the plant had been closed Monday night. When operations are resumed, only one shift of workers will be employed.

Miss Margaret Sullivan of Chicago and Miss Nellie Sullivan of Hartford are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Kennedy.

What has been a troublesome bit of highway between Danville's Main street and the upper railroad crossing in that village was being repaired on Monday, much to the delight of motorists who drive that way every day.

East Killbuck people cut off from trolley service, are left to wonder just what will be done by some enterprising person or organization to establish some kind of transportation in the present lack of transportation facilities make it decidedly inconvenient for the people in that part of the town and is an injury to Danielson's business interests.

Women of Killbuck did not fail to avail themselves Monday of their first opportunity to exercise the full rights of franchise. That they acquitted themselves creditably, as to the marking of their ballots, a thing some men have never learned to do properly, was indicated as the count went on.

Coroner Arthur G. Bill has obtained additional information relative to circumstances surrounding the shooting of Edward Nash, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Nash, last Friday morning. The Nash boy, who remains in a dangerous condition at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam, has been reported as being unable to the shooting by declaring that he did not touch the rifle by which he was shot. The rifle was held at the time of the shooting by a Viens boy, whose given name the coroner has not obtained. Coroner Bill also has learned that a Pike boy was fired at with the same rifle early Friday morning when he went to the Cold Spring to get a drink of water while he was going over his newspaper route.

The bullet came exceedingly close to the Pike boy's forehead, but did not wound him.

From the New Haven police a photograph and information has been received by A. G. Bill that may serve to fix the identity of the safe-breaker at Brooklyn jail, who gave his name as John Burke when he was arrested here. It is indicated by the photograph that the man in possession of the prosecuting attorney that Burke is Joseph Fav, 33, otherwise known as Mott Haven Red, a very bad and post office burglar, Burke, or Fay, is suffering with tuberculosis and, apparently, has not long to live.

At the Dyer dam, a construction force is engaged in building a coffer dam to shut off the water from running through its regular channel and to the power house so that repairs made be made following the washout of a few weeks ago. On Sunday one of the construction workmen, A. G. Stult, was injured when he fell off the pile driver. He was taken to the Day Kimball hospital for treatment.

The republicans elected all of their candidates at Monday's annual town election in which 1279 voters were cast, many women participating. PUTNAM

City Engineer George W. Perry said Monday noon that he will call the attention of the state board of health to the fact that Putnam's supply of city water from the municipally owned plant is now coming through to consumers without being filtered. Mr. Perry said that he considered that the use of unfiltered water by Putnam people is hazardous and he complained because the city water department has not given public notice that the water has been coming through recently without passing through the filters. He further stated that three members of his family—Mrs. Perry, Miss Gertrude Perry and Gilbert Perry—were ill on Monday and that while he had no definite means of knowing what caused their illness he attributed it to the water they have been drinking.

A trio of men charged with having been intoxicated appeared in the city court Monday morning. Christopher Garfield, who has been employed in a mill here for the past five weeks, paid $30 and costs of $11.14 for his spree. Adelard Ronden, of Lowell, was similarly assessed. John E. Dillon, plaintiff in a suit for about 200 new pieces, but this is not a sufficiently large lot to warrant re-opening the plant. As the woolen industry is now well through its readjustment period it is felt, however, that there will be some good news about the reopening of local plants in the not distant future.

Putnam now has the largest voting list in its history. During Monday when the voters of the town were called to the polls on Church street to cast their ballots in the annual town election Registrar Hermon G. Carver said that the total number of electors in Putnam at the present time is 2445. Of this number 1471 are men and 775 are women.

Today the registrars are to be in session all day to receive the applications of those who desire to be made electors in time for the presidential election next month. This is the last opportunity that will be given for registering this year.

All citizen women voted in Monday's election, but many others who are qualified as electors did not put in an appearance, apparently having no real interest in local politics.

Putnam will witness a big and impressive demonstration in honor of the Holy Name society Sunday afternoon when a body of men representative of every Catholic parish in Windham county will gather here and participate in a procession that will pass through the principal streets of the city.

Putnam will be represented by several hundred marchers and other county parishes will send big delegations. As of January between the city and Putnam, it may be mentioned that St. Joseph's parish of Danville alone will be represented by between 250 and 300 men. St. Pauline's of Putnam will send even a larger number, while Windham, Wauregan, Moosup, Plainfield, Sterling, Pomfret and the Grosvenordales and the territories that the churches in these places serve will send delegations that should make a total of between 2,000 and 3,000 men. There will be several bands in the procession.

Local reports received here indicate that the truck owned by George Ross was not badly damaged in the accident of last Friday. Mr. Ross is not seriously hurt.

They stated that they have not yet decided just what they will do. Service on the line between the city and Putnam was suspended on Saturday for an indefinite period.

Members of a navy recruiting party made a regular visitation to this city on Monday.

viser of schools for the towns of Salem, Old Lyme, Lyme and East Lyme, with headquarters in New London. Mr. Wilson served with the infantry in France with the rank of first lieutenant. He is a member of Anselm Mayotte post of the American Legion.

At the annual town meeting Monday afternoon, the selectmen were authorized to borrow such sums of money as may be necessary to defray the expenses of the ensuing year. Four thousand five hundred dollars was appropriated for highways, and one thousand dollars for bridges. Forty-six thousand five hundred dollars was appropriated for the schools. Three hundred dollars for the proper observance of Memorial day. Six hundred dollars for the Day Kimball hospital, one hundred dollars for Woman's Board of the Day Kimball hospital, and fifteen hundred dollars for the public library. An adjournment was taken until the second Monday in March at 10 a. m. for the purpose of laying a tax to meet the expenses of the town for the fiscal year.

The town meeting brought out a very large number of voters. The women especially took advantage of this opportunity to exercise the franchise so long denied them. Two women were elected near the corner of Bridge and Church streets where they had their headquarters for instructing and checking the women voters; automobile transportation to or from the polls was furnished those who desired it.

E. R. Hall dropped dead while writing an amendment at the annual town meeting in Woodstock Sunday afternoon. Friends who rushed to his assistance and carried him out of doors discovered that the attack of heart failure had been almost instantly fatal. Mr. Hall was of Woodstock's best known citizens and for many years had been principal of Woodstock Academy, a position he resigned in 1914. He was 74 years of age. Mr. Hall leaves his wife, two daughters and a son.

1843 votes were cast in Monday's town meeting in which the republicans elected all of their candidates.
